01

OZONE GENERATOR AV-O1 PRO WIND T

AVO1 PRO WIND T is a device used to generate ozone in the professional environment, particularly suitable for sanitising small environments and vehicles.

A Titanium generation module is housed inside a stainless steel container.

A microprocessor allows the user to program the duration of the treatment into different ways:

Timing
with manual selection of the desired duration. It is possible to set the machine choosing between 4 different times.

Percentage treatment with a choice of the fraction of time. The machine alternates between ozone production and rest, without interruption.
